ALUMNI ASSOCIATION ANNUAL DUES $2.00

More Financial Aid Needed

Progress in the Alumni Association has been greatly affected by the small return from paid memberships during the past year. It is hoped that with the changing conditions more Alumni will contribute something toward the support of their association during the ensuing year.

The amount of loyalty an Alumnus shows to his Alma Mater is not always judged by his monetary contributions. It is, however, vitally necessary that the association have funds with which to properly carry on in order to stimulate more interest and loyalty in the University and association. Last year the number of paid memberships were not sufficient to meet the current expenses. It was, therefore, necessary to use the savings account of the association to satisfactorily meet these obligations. Such as this cannot continue, for it would not be long before the association would be in the red.

In spite of this the association voted to continue the policy of sending the ALUMNI NEWS to all former students whose address is known, whether they are paid members or not. This is a fine spirit and everyone favors the same. But unless more dues from memberships are received during the ensuing year, the association's program will be greatly curtailed, including the discontinuing of the ALUMNI NEWS, or sending it only to paid members.

The future program and policies of the Alumni Association depends on the support of its members. "An empty sack will not stand upright."

HEADS ASSOCIATION

J. ENOS RAY, '92

For the second time in the history of the Alumni Association, J. Enos Ray, '92, has been chosen president. His first term as president of the association was from 1902 to 1904.

Mr. Ray stands among those Alumni who have gained reputable distinction as a leader. He has been prominent in many local, county, and State affairs. His ability has gained for him many responsible positions; such as president of the Prince George's County Bank and Trust Co., chairman of the Democratic State Central Committee, and collector of internal revenue. He has also been a member of the Maryland State Legislature.

The association looks forward to a great year under his able leadership. Since Alumni Day he has been ill, but we are now glad to report a marked improvement.

A WORTHY FUND

The new University Hospital in Baltimore is rapidly nearing completion, and there is considerable need of funds for proper equipment. A campaign under the auspices of the Medical Alumni Association is now being conducted. All Alumni of the University are asked to contribute whatever amount they wish. It is a worthy project and its success is of mutual interest to every Alumnus. Send your contribution to the Medical School, Lombard and Greene Sts., Baltimore, Maryland, or to the Alumni Office, College Park.

PLACEMENT BUREAU

The Alumni Office has been notified of several vacancies with the Hoover Vacuum Cleaning Co. and Burroughs Adding Machine Co. Alumni who are interested should communicate with the Alumni Office, College Park. Also a salesman is wanted by a nearby real estate company.

grees by Dr. R. A. Pearson, president of the University, as 5000 people jammed the huge Ritchie Coliseum for the ceremonies. Reverend Coleman Nevils, S. J., president of Georgetown University, delivered the invocation, and the Reverend John J. Bunting of Crisfield, Maryland, delivered the benediction.

In his address, Governor Ritchie described his long love for the University and his hope that the graduates would "go forth into the world guided by the light of Providence, and would remember always the spirit of tolerance and democratic government," which he said, "is Maryland's heritage."

In remarks made prior to granting the degrees, President Pearson expressed the belief that a college education should lead to an appreciation of the finer things of life, and said that in his opinion, this spirit of appreciation had been dulled somewhat by the effect of uneducated use of the radio, the cinema, and the novel.

Honorary Degrees

Two nationally famous men were the recipients of honorary degrees at the exercises. They were Dr. Edward Starr Judd, surgeon-in-chief of the Mayo Clinic at Rochester, Illinois; and Joseph Lewis Wheeler, chief librarian of the Enoch Pratt Free Library in Baltimore. Dr. Judd received a Doctor of Science degree, and Mr Wheeler received the degree of Doctor of Letters.

Fifteen Doctorates and forty-six Master's degrees were also awarded Miss Florence Symons was the second woman ever to receive a Ph. D. from Maryland.

Alumnus Honored

Certificates of Merit in Agriculture were awarded to Henry C. Whiteford, of Harford County; Joseph C. Merritt, of Dundalk; and William H. Cunningham, of Williamsport, for their outstanding success in agricultural endeavor. Whiteford is a graduate of the University in the class of '01, and has also been President of the Alumni Association.

Saunder's Speaks At Banquet

When the student's publications held their annual banquet May 18, a part of the program was to recognize the twenty-fifth anniversary of the founding of the student weekly paper, which was originally known as the Triangle and later changed to The Diamondback. Senator Millard E. Tydings, the first editor, was invited to be the guest speaker, but due to pressure of of legislative matters it was impossible for him to attend. His assistant editor on the Triangle, Major O. H. Saunder, '10, did the honors for him in highly creditable fashion.

The banquet held in the Italian Gardens of the Mayflower Hotel, was followed by a dance. More than two hundred attended.

tion. Major B. D. Spalding, known as "Ram," now stationed in Richmond, in charge of the CCC work, was one of the absentees, much to the regret of everyone, as he has had a rather remarkable career, and all would have liked to have heard from him. He was the first American officer "over the top" in command of American troops during the World War. He achieved his present rating after enlistment as a private. F. H. Dryden, who last year received a medal as the outstanding citizen of Wicomico County, and who has been serving as engineer for the CWA and FERA organizations in Maryland, is one of the successful engineers of the class. P. E. Burroughs, a successful contractor in Salisbury, is a member of the House of Delegates from Wicomico County. W. R. Maslin, president of the National Process Company, one of the largest printing establishments in New York City, was on hand as usual. He is a consistently loyal Alumnus as he manages to attend the outstanding athletic events and Alumni gatherings.

Space will not permit detailing the accomplishments of each member of the class individually, but they are all successful in their chosen fields, loyal to the University and genuinely loyal to the class and to each other.

Due to the fact that the boys came from widely separated places, they straggled in all afternoon. Most of them, however, arrived in time to enjoy an al fresco luncheon at the home of Ernest N. Cory. All of the members of the class attended the Alumni meeting and afterwards had a table set up in the dining hall for the entire class and the wives who attended.

BALTIMORE SCHOOLS HAVE ALUMNI REUNIONS

As a part of the Annual Commencement program each Alumni Association of the Baltimore schools of the University held banquets in honor of the respective classes.

More than 200 were on hand for the Dental School banquet, which had Judge Charles E. Moylan of the Baltimore Tax Appeal Court as the principal speaker.

Governor Albert C. Ritchie and Mayor Howard W. Jackson, gubernatorial rivals, attended the Medical Reunion banquet at which nearly three hundred were present.

The School of Nursing held its reunion banquet and dance following the commencement exercises at which approximately 100 were present. Mrs. Ethel Palmer Clark, '06, was the principal speaker.

With more than 250 present, the Pharmacy School banquet heard Judge Joseph N. Ulman, of the Baltimore Circuit Court of Appeals, give the principal address. Governor Albert C. Ritchie and H. C. Byrd gave short talks.

Medals and honors were awarded at the banquet to those seniors having shown outstanding accomplishments during four years of study.

THREE GENERATIONS OF CRISPS

Among the families who have had three generations to attend the College Park schools of the University is that of Mr. William S. Crisp, a member of the class of '75. His son, A. Byron Crisp, graduated in the Class of '07, and his daughter, Mary Crisp, is now a sophomore in the Univeristy.

Phi Kappa Phi Holds Initiation

The University of Maryland chapter of the National Honor Society of Phi Kappa Phi held its spring initiation and banquet Monday evening, May 21.

At this meeting 21 students of the University, who have gained recognition by their scholastic standing, were honored with membership. Among those elected were 16 seniors. Their names are as follows: Rolfe L. Allen, Warren D. Anderson, Margaret M. Burdette, John T. Dressel, Charlotte W. Hood, David Krieder, Leah L. Leaf, Mary Elizabeth Mills, Gertrude E. Nicholls, Erna M. Riedel, William H. Ross, Jr., Ralph W. Ruble, Louise T. Saylor, John R. Shipman, Sarah Louise Short and Ethel Snyder. Five graduate students were also initiated, namely Cecil R. Ball, Robert F. Chandler, Helena J. Haines, William G. Rose, and Neil W. Stuart.

Following the initiation ceremony a banquet was held at the University dining hall in honor of the new members. Special guests were Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Clapper and Mrs. Alice Hostetler. Mr. Clapper, who is the head of the national news bureau of the Washington Post, was guest speaker. The speaker's press connections enabled him to give a most interesting talk on what newspaper people think of President Roosevelt.

Phi Kappa officers elected for next year are as follows: president, Dr. C. E. White, '23; vice-president, Dr. M. W. Parker, '30; secretary-treasurer, Dr. R. G. Rothgeb, '27; corresponding secretary, Dr. A. L. Schrader, Ph. D., '25.

Pollock, Alumni secretary; Miss Helen Bradley, honor student in the College of Arts and Science; Dr. Thomas H. Taliaferro, dean of the College of Arts and Science; H. L. Crisp, superintendent of buildings and grounds; H. C. Byrd, vice-president of the University, and Dr. E. N. Cory, State entomologist.

Nurses Receive Honors

For the first time, four of the graduates of the School of Nursing completed the combined five-year course which gives a Bachelor of Science degree and a diploma in nursing. The first two years of the course are taken in pre-nursing in the College of Arts and Science at College Park, and the last three at the School of Nursing in Baltimore. The students to finish the course for the first time were Myra Lewis, of Washington, D.C.; Kathryn Matzen, Berwyn, Md.; Lois Steinwedel, and Isabelle Seipts, of Baltimore, Md.

Myra Lewis won first honors in the School of Nursing and the Janet Hale Memorial Scholarship, given by the Nurses' Alumnae Association, to take graduate work at Columbia. Lois Steinwedel won second honors and the Elizabeth Collins Lee prize and the Mrs. John L. Whitehurst prize for executive ability. Kathryn Matzen won the Edwin and Leander M. Zimmerman prize for practical nursing and display of sympathy for patients.

Alumni Receive Engineering Degrees

Six former graduates of the College of Engineering received professional degrees at the Commencement Exercises. William Irvin Russel, '29; James Nicholas Wallace, '30, and John Kay Daly, '28, all of Washington, D. C., received the degree of Civil Engineer.

William Hartage Fifer, '30, and Carrol Staley James, '30, of Galesville, and Frederick, respectively, received Electrical Engineering degrees.

William Crayeroft Schofield, '30, of Washington, D. C., was recipient of the degree of Mechanical Engineer.

NEW BUILDINGS NOW UNDER CONSTRUCTION

Ground has been broken for a building program costing approximately $500,000 at College Park, which includes a new dormitory for women, an arts and science building, and remodeling of the dairy building.

The arts and science building, to be named Shoemaker Hall, in honor of the late Honorable Samuel M. Shoemaker, chairman of the Board of Regents, will be located on the hill in front of Gerneaux Hall and facing the Engineering Building. This building, containing about 8,500 square feet, will be erected at a cost of approximately $250,000. Research laboratories in physics and industrial chemistry as well as many needed class rooms and office space will be provided.

Work has also been started on the new co-ed's dormitory, located just west of the old reservoir, which will accommodate one hundred and twenty girls. This structure, costing approximately $150,000, will be the third building to be added to the women's group in the last three years.

Remodeling of the dairy building, while not actually started, will so transform the outside appearance that it will not look like the same building. It is expected that all work will be completed by fall.

New Flag Pole For The Campus

By cooperation of the senior class, the Student Government Association and the Alumni Association, the University is to receive the gift of a new flag pole. Simple but beautiful embellishments of low brick walls and flagstone walks will form the setting, plans for which have been drawn by Howard Cutler, architect. The flag pole will also have a new location if present plans materialize. It will be located at a point directly in front of the new library and about midway between the present site and the library.

Plans are to begin the work shortly and be completed for the dedicatory ceremonies which will be a part of the Homecoming Day program this fall, November 3, when the University of Virginia will be met in football.

Reveilles Wanted

Last year the Alumni Association received from the daughters of the late Dr. Samuel S. Buckley, '93, his set of Reveilles, practically complete from the first copies published in 1897 to 1916. There are, however, a few copies missing and the Alumni office wishes to complete the set up to date. The following copies are desired: 1899, 1907, 1908, 1909, 1912, 1915, 1917, 1919, 1920, 1921, and 1922.

The Alumni Association would gratefully appreciate receiving any of the above mentioned copies which will be an invaluable asset to the records in the Alumni office. Please send them to the Alumni Office, College Park, Maryland.

OLD LINE ATHLETIC ACTIVITIES

By W. H. ("Bill") HOTTEL

WHILE all probably has not been said that should have been said about Maryland's good year in athletics, 1933-1934, the powers that be in the sport realm at College Park already are beginning to think about the football campaign next fall.

And when you stop to figure it out, Labor Day, the time they start grid practice at the colleges in the Southern Conference, is just around the corner and the aspiring football men soon will be toiling back of the steel stands of Byrd Stadium.

But before we talk too much about the prospects for football during the 1935 season or other futures in Old Line sports, it would be well to fling a few words about what happened during recent spring schedules.

As usual, Maryland had its share of success, being victors in 65 per cent of its varsity sports for the school term, and doing some sensational things in track and being conspicuous in baseball in the Southern Conference.

Widmyer In Spotlight

Earl Widmyer, the Hagerstown flier, was the ace of the track team, although he had a lot of fast company. Earl won both the indoor and outdoor spring championships in the Conference, and stepped away from a great field to capture the 100-meter title in the classy Pennsylvania relay carnival.

So many track marks, though, were broken during the year that we are going to print a complete new set of the records. It will be noted by perusing the list that fully half of the old marks were smashed during the 1934 outdoor season. And it might be incidentally stated here that Coach Eppley should pilot the best track team Maryland has ever boasted during the 1934-35 term.

Burton Shipley's ball team won seven of eight conference games to be the runner-up to North Carolina's title team, and the Old Liners chalked up 14 wins in 19 starts for the entire schedule, winning 12 of their last 14 tilts. Navy and Cornell were among the victims.

Maryland's tennis team also had its best season in history by taking six of nine matches and 46 out of 81 contests.

Lacrosse, like football last fall, was in a rebuilding stage, and the team did not measure up to most of the Terp stick combinations. However, it may be counted on to be back up there again next spring.

Freshmen Do Well

Most of the freshman teams were uniformly successful. Like the varsity outfits, they won more than 65 per cent of their contests, and will send a fair amount of good talent up to the big teams for 1934-1935.

Notable among the boys who will become sophomores in the fall are Bill Guckeyson, who shone as a frosh halfback and basketer, broke both the discus and javelin records and also tossed the shot in fine fashion; Coleman Headley, another football toter who shattered the half-mile mark; Charlie Ellinger, another halfback, who is about as sweet an attack lacrosse player as any one would want to cast an eye upon, and Jack Stonebraker, football, basket-ball and baseball player, all of whom hail from within the State. They are not the full crop by any means, but they are about the most outstanding.

EARL WIDMYER

Who earned national fame as sprinter.

In all, 79 numerals were awarded freshmen athletes in football, basketball, boxing, lacrosse, track and tennis.

94 Get Varsity Letters

A total of 94 letters went to varsity athletes during 1933-1934 and 67 of them are due to resume their studies when the "bell rings" in September.

Seven of those who have worn the Black and Gold for the last time are gridders. Rufus Vincent, John Mayhew and Don Hayends; Sam Silber, guard; Buckey Buscher, Willis Benner and Bob Snyder, backs, were the casualties. Silber, who has another year in football and lacrosse, may come back to strive for a master's degree.

SAM SILBER

Old Liners' ace defense stickman and all-American selection.

RALPH RUBLE

Hurled seven victories without defeat and batted .300 despite that one hand is crippled and practically useless, and makes Phi Kappa Phi.

However, while all of these men, except Buscher and Benner, were reserves who will be missed, they were not such vital cogs as some others.

Has Gridiron Assets

Maryland built up a fine line last fall that showed its mettle in the last two games. That was what it needed along with some more ball toters. All of that forward wall will be back in September, except Tom Webb, center, who left school, and the needed backs will come up from the freshman outfit.

Bill Andorka, who was ineligible last fall, should ably fill Webb's shoes. Then, too, Harry Gretz, who threw the ball back often enough to get his insignia last season, again will be on hand.

So the grid outlook is not to be sneezed at, and Jack Faber, serving his first year as head coach, and Charles Leroy Mackert, who teams up with him as line mentor, should not add more than the customary amount of grey hairs.

Basket-ball Hard Hit

Basket-ball was the hardest hit by graduation, losing four regulars in Spencer Chase and Bob Snyder, forwards; Rufus Vincent, center, and and Buckey Buscher, guard. Burton Shipley faces quite a problem to keep up his average of 70 per cent wins in the 11 years he has tutored the Terps.

Boxing was the lightest loser, only Harry Carroll, 125-pounder, being lost via the diploma route. Tennis lost only two men in John Zirckel and Tom Wilson, but they happen to have been the aces of the squad.

Jolts to Shipley extended right heavily to his baseball team. Ralph Ruble, sensational pitcher; Spencer Chase, first sacker; Willie Wolf, second baseman, and Buckey Buscher and Willis Benner, outfielder, finishing their careers. Steve Physioc, highly capable hurler, who was a senior, is expected to return. He was out of baseball a year so he has another season coming to him.

Jack Faber will miss from his lacrosse outfit such capable men as Carl Pfau, goalie; Bob Snyder, cover point; Norwood Sothoron, center; Rufus Vincent, in home; James Crotty, defense, and possibly, Sam Silber, point. Faber is hoping that he will have Silber on both his grid and stick squads.

Collectively, though, the athletic situation at Maryland is not one to require crying towels for the coaches; and, when another resume is made a year hence it is safe to say that the Old Liners will have gathered in their fair share of the laurel wreaths.

At any rate, they will furnish fighting and sportsmanlike opposition to a lot of powerful foes before the commencement exercises are held next June.

JOHN ZIRCKEL

Terps' No. 1 ranking tennis player.

Honors And Awards

Awards for various achievements and scholastic attainment were presented by Dr. Thomas H. Taliaferro, dean of the College of Arts and Science, at the senior banquet, held May 31. The citizenship watch, given by Mr. H. C. Byrd, vice-president of the University, was presented to Norwood Spencer Sothoron of Charlotte Hall, Maryland, also the athletic medal given by the Class of '08 was won by Sothoron. The citizenship prize for women was presented to Clara Dixon, president of the Women's Student Government. The Maryland ring, given by Charles Linhardt, '12, was won by Earl G. Widmyer of Hagerstown, Md. Women's Senior Honor Society Cup for scholastic honors went to Helen M. Bradley of Takoma Park, Maryland. The James Goddard Memorial award was made to Richard O. White, of College Park, Md.

The Sigma Phi medal was awarded to Jesse Dale Patterson of Indian Head, Maryland. The Delta Delta Delta Sorority medal was awarded to Claribel Gertrude Pierson of Hyattsville, Maryland. The Dinah Berman Memorial medal was won by George W. Bixby of Washington, D. C.

Seven Graduates In One Family

Probably never before in the history of the University is there another family with as many graduates of the University as that of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas H. White of College Park. In addition to Mr. White, who received his M. S. degree in 1915, after serving on the experiment staff for several years, there have been six sons who received degrees from the College Park Schools. Herbert White was the first, graduating in chemistry in 1911. He died in 1917 at Camp Gordon, Georgia, while a member of the U. S. Army. William H., '13, a graduate in entomology, is now chief of the Truck Crop Insect Bureau, U. S. Department of Agriculture. Albert, '14, completed his work in the College of Agriculture and is now superintendent, on the Eastern Shore, of the Ridgely substation of the University's Experiment station. Robert,'10, a graduate of chemistry, is now superintendent of the Armour Fertilizer plant at Cartaret, N. J. Charles E., a member of the class of '23, and also a graduate in chemistry, is now a professor in that department and has received his M. S. and Ph. D. degrees. He is also president of Phi Kappa Phi for the years 1934-35. Richard O., '34, the youngest of the family, completed the entomology course this year and expects to continue by taking graduate work. The last two to graduate have been members of Phi Kappa Phi, the national honorary scholastic fraternity. Also the last three named have received the James Douglas Goddard Memorial Medal offered by his sister, Mrs. Anna K. Goddard James, to a student from Prince George's County for excellence in scholarship and moral character. Four of the six sons were on hand for the graduation exercises. A reunion supper was held at the home of the parents that evening.

Father And Son Receive Degrees

GEO. W. NORRIS, Jr., '34, and GEO. W. '19

George W. Norris And Son Receive Degrees On Same Day

Father and son received degrees from the University at the Commencement exercises this year. George W. Norris, '19, received his Master of Science degree in education while his son, George W., Jr., received a B. S. in Engineering. Norris senior, entered the College Park schools of the University in 1914 only to have his college work interrupted by the World War. He entered the army and was sent to the University of Maine as a Captain in the S. A. T. C. Following the war he returned to Maryland and received his B. S. degree in agricultural education. He is now teaching and is also principal of a school near Annapolis, Maryland. "Pop," as he is known, got his M. S. by attending summer school.

Many Alumni On Hand For Annual Get-together

Engineering Auditorium, following the commencement exercises, with more than 100 Alumni present. At 6:30 the Alumni supper was held in the University dining hall with a program of entertainment and short talks by Dr. R. A. Pearson, president of the University, Henry Holzapfel, '93, member of the Board of Regents, and several Alumni. At 9 p. m. the Alumni dance to the senior class began in the University gymnasium. Dan Gregory and his popular dance orchestra furnished the music.

Annual Meeting

At the annual meeting several important subjects were earnestly discussed. The Alumni Memorial Committee recommended that the association join with the senior class of 1934 and erect on the campus a suitable memorial flag pole, to commemorate the achievements of our former students. This appropriation was made out of the Alumni fund to which subscriptions have been made for this purpose.

Probably the subject receiving the greatest amount of discussion was the policy governing the publishing of the ALUMNI NEWS and the collections of membership dues. It was brought out that during the past year the returns from membership were not sufficient to meet the current expenses. The association, however, voted to continue publishing the NEWS and send it to all former students whose address is known, with the hope that more will pay dues this year.

The committee on plans for better coordinating the relationships of Alumni of the Baltimore and College Park schools presented a favorable report, recommending that the work be carried on. A comprehensive report was given by the committee on an Alumni medal to members of the senior class, which was approved and referred to the incoming board.

Alumni Day

Considerable discussion was given the date for Alumni Day next year. A committee had given this careful study and recommended a Saturday earlier in the spring for the annual reunion. The association voted the first Saturday in May as the most suitable day.

Following the regular order of business the nominating committee made its report and the following officers were elected: J. Enos Ray, '92, president; T. B. Symons, '02, vice-president; H. S. Hoffecker, '14, representative of engineering; Minnie Hill, '23, representative of home economics. Members at large: Maj. O. H. Saunders, '10, representing men; Josephine Blandford, '27, representing women. J. Enos Ray had previously served as president of the association from 1902 to 1904.

The meeting adjourned at 6:45, and proceeded to the dining hall for supper. After supper many attended the dance in the gymnasium, which brought to a close at midnight a most colorful Commencement Week's program of many activities.

Nichols Medal Awarded To H. C. Sherman, '93

Henry C. Sherman, '93, Mitchell Professor of Chemistry at Columbia University, received the William H. Nichols Medal of the New York section of the American Chemical Society at a dinner in his honor at The Chemists' Club, held March 9. The award was made to Dr. Sherman for his work, showing that "chemistry, through nutrition, may raise the level of positive health and increase the average length of life."

Victor K. LaMer, chairman of the jury of selection, presented the medal. Declaring that Dr. Sherman had raised the study of vitamins from an art to a science, he said: "By discovering and popularizing in the best sense of the word knowledge about chemistry of foods, you enable the individual to control his own health for his own best interest in a way which has never been possible before." Lafayette B. Mendel of Yale University and C. A. Browne of the Bureau of Chemistry and Soils, U. S. Department of Agriculture, also spoke in praise of Dr. Sherman's work. An unusually large crowd (more than 400) was present.

Sherman's interest in chemistry began under Dr. H. B. McDonnell, professor of chemistry of the Maryland Agricultural College now the College Park schools of the University, where he began as a student in 1889. While a student he did not devote his entire time to studies as he was a member of the first football team at the College Park schools.

Following graduation in 1893 he continued his work in chemistry at Columbia University where he received his Master's degree in 1896 and his Doctor's degree in 1897. He is now head of the Chemistry Department at Columbia.

Dickey Poultry Farm

In the valley of the mountains in the state of Washington we find P. S. Dickey, '07, a former engineering student, now owner and operator of prominent "Dickey Poultry Farm." Locating his whereabouts was the results of the visit by John T. Braddock and T. Elgie Riggs, of the class of 1882, last spring. Both Braddock and Dickey are residents of Puyallup, Washington, and have been friends for sometime. Dickey himself came east in 1927, on which trip he visited the Campus and his remarks were: "I found the changes startling." Due to this visit he persuaded Braddock to visit the old Campus the first time in 50 years.

Dickey whose address was unknown for sometime went west in 1918 to become engaged in his new pursuit about which he writes as follow: "After following engineering pursuits for many years, I have found the work I love and am happily located." His success as a poultryman has been recognized by the State College of Washington which presented him with a certificate of merit this year.

1933 Line Almost Intact; Backfield Talent Capable

By W. H. ("Bill") HOTTEL

JOHN E. (JACK) FABER has assumed the role of head football coach at Maryland. His aide-de-camp is Charles LeRoy Mackert, who will be chief line mentor. They will actually get on the job on Labor Day, September 3, when 45 aspirants are due to report at College Park for the start of practice for the 1934 campaign.

Both are Maryland products and well known to most of the old grads, especially those of recent years. Jack teaches bacteriology as his main job at the University, and also coaches varsity lacrosse and freshman basketball. Mack is doing a big task well in handling Maryland's physical education department.

With 15 of the 21 letter winners of 1933 due to be back, two who won their insignia in 1932, but who did not play last season, again available, and some needed talent, especially backfield men, coming up from last fall's freshman squad, the football outlook is encouraging.

Line Almost Intact

Maryland had to rebuild last fall, especially its line, which wound up the 1933 season in impressive style. This forward wall, which at the finish included five sophomores, will be intact, with the exception of Tom Webb, center, who left school at the start of the second semester in February.

Otherwise, the only casualities among the regulars were Buckey Buscher, great defensive back, and Willis Benner, clever ball-toter and pass-receiver. All of the other letter men to graduate were reserves.

Maryland regulars and near-regulars due to be on hand are:

Louis Ennis and Bernie Buscher, ends; Ed Minion and Charles Callahan, tackles; John Simpson and Brooks Bradley, guards; Dick Nelson, Earl Widmyer, Joe Crecca, George Sachs and Charles Yaeger, backs.

These, with Webb, Buckey Buscher and Benner, played most of Maryland's football in 1933 and it was a capable outfit, particularly the line, in its last two games.

Other letter men left from 1933 are Harry Gretz, center, who ably backed up Webb; William Garrott, and Luther Goldman, guards, and Carl Stalfort, tackle.

Sothoron, Farrell Ready

Norwood Sothoron, a fine all-around back, who was kept out last year by an appendicitis operation, and Al Farrell, a big tackle, who was out of school for the first semester last fall, are the 1932 letter men who will resume grid action.

Bill Andorka, a 170-pounder, who was ineligible last season, indicated in spring practice that he will be a worthy successor to Webb at center, and a number of backs from the 1933 freshman outfit showed to such advanage as to give hope for a couple of capable quartets to carry on ably in the difficult 1934 schedule.

Most promising of the rookie backs are Bill Guckeyson, Coleman Headley, Jack Stonebraker, Charlie Ellinger, Edmond Daly, John Gormley, and Bob Mathias.

Robert Lenzen, end; John Birkland, and Edward Quigley, tackles; Charles Zulick, Bill Edwards, and Bill Schaar, guards, and Edward Fletcher, center, are the leading recruit linemen.

Reserve Ends Needed

With its line problem pretty well solved by 1933 developments, and more backfield talent than usual, though much of it needs experience, Faber and Mackert appear to have the most difficult task in finding reserve ends.

With Widmyer, the "fastest human" playing football, Headley, Guckeyson, Sothoron and Mathias, all speed-merchants, Maryland doubtless could pick a relay team that would be tough for any football quartet in the country to outrun.

Nelson, Widmyer, Crecca and Guckeyson are able kickers, the first named, Sachs, Stonebraker and Sothoron are capable passers, and there appears to be ample ball carrying and defensive ability in the backfield array.

Vol. V SEPTEMBER, 1934 No. 3

Hon. J. Enos Ray, '92, Was Eminent Leader

The Honorable J. Enos Ray, president of the Alumni Association and a member of the class of 1892, died Sept. 10, at his home in Chillum, Md.

Mr. Ray was an eminent citizen and outstanding leader in political and civic endeavors of the State, county and community. At the time of his death he was collector of Internal Revenue, chairman of Democratic State Central Committee, president of Prince George's Bank and Trust Company of Hyattsville, Md., and senior member of the law firm of Ray and Keefer.

Member Of General Assembly

Most of his life has been spent in public service, during which many honors have been accorded him by the people of the State and County. In 1904 he was elected to the General Assembly of Maryland, and four years later was made a speaker of the House. In 1912 he was appointed State Auditor and later became chairman of the State Tax Commission.

He has been a life long resident of Prince George County, born and raised on the Ray Estate at Chillum. He was a member of the Emory Methodist Church of Brightwood and active in the work of the Masonic and Eastern Star organizations, and a member of the Grange.

Heads Association In '02

Mr. Ray entered the College Park Schools at the age of 14, graduating with an A. B. degree in the class of 1892. In 1897 he received the degree of LL.M. in law from Georgetown University, and in 1906 had conferred upon him the degree of Master of Arts by his Alma Mater. He was elected president of the Alumni Association in 1902, serving for two years.

He leaves an enviable record of service to the people of this State, county and community, and has always been active in the Alumni Association, seldom missing an Alumni Day.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Isabel S. Ray, a brother, Alfred Ray, of Takoma Park, and a sister, Mrs. Gertrude Schulz, of Bethesda.

Funeral services were held September 14, at the Emory Methodist Church, of Brightwood, Washington, D. C., and interment was made in Rock Creek cemetery.

Former President of Alumni Association

THE LATE J. ENOS RAY

IN MEMORIAM

The Alumni Association has suffered the loss, through death, of one of its eminent Alumni. J. Enos Ray, a member of the class of 1892 and twice president of the Alumni Association, leaves an enviable record. He has stepped from the midst of controversy and taken his place among the immortals, against whom no man can speak. There is a sudden and loyal silence throughout all the hosts, for no man has been more a part of every man in the State than J. Enos Ray.

He had a public mind and gave himself to the service of the people with singleness of purpose that will be an inspiration to the younger generatons. None will go from the midst of the living and leave a sense of deeper personal loss than this splendid man, this impetuous companion who has been snatched by death from the intimate affection of his many friends.

The Alumni Association deeply grieves the loss of their president, a devoted and loyal Alumnus and takes this occasion to express condolence to his bereaved family.

Marylanders Are Outstanding At R. O. T. C. Summer Camp

When the final results of the R. O. T. C. Summer Camp at Fort Meade were compiled, it was found that Maryland Boys had captured their share of the honors. Thirty-five members of the R. O. T. C. unit from Maryland attended the course, which had a total enrollment of 450. Four who graduated in June, but had not attended a previous course, were given their O. R. C. Commissions.

On the rifle range the Maryland Groupe was one of the outstanding groups, finishing with an average of 10 to 15% better than the company average. Maryland's outstanding student was Fairfax Walter, who was awarded a gold medal for individual company honors and was third mentioned for the entire unit honors.

"The general conduct of the Maryland Boys was uniformly good and did credit to the institution," said Major Alvin C. Gillem commanding officer of the course.

HOMECOMING, NOVEMBER 3

FELLOW ALUMNI: Each fall one day is set aside for you to spend with your former schoolmates and fellow Alumni. This day has been named Homecoming

A time when you return to renew old acquaintances and hands are clasped in friendship that has not been dulled by intervening years.

This fall, November 3, will be the eleventh fall reunion. The officers of the Alumni Associaton and the "M" Club are arranging an attractive program of entertainment. Naturally the outstanding attraction will be the football game with the University of Virginia in Byrd Stadium.

Make your plans now to be on hand. A more detailed program will appear in the next issue of the NEWS.

College Park School Begin 75th Session

This fall marks the seventy-fifth opening of the College Park Schools of the University. On October 5, 1859, the doors of the newly founded Maryland Agricultural College were opened for students who were anxious to get an education in scientific agriculture. Sixty students was the total opening enrollment, just one-tenth of the annual freshmen enrollment of today.

* * * * *

Kelley Enters Politics

More Alumni enter the political activities of Maryland. In Montgomery County, Thomas C. Kelly, '26, manager of the well known Pleasant Hill farms, is a candidate for Judge of the Orphans' Court.

While in college he was quite active in student affairs, holding such offices as Editor of the Reveille and vice-president of the student Assembly.

* * * * *

Hines, '00, Honored

Major Frank B. Hines, '00, commander of the Chestertown Medical Unit of the Maryland National Guard, was awarded the fifteen-year service medal this past summer during their annual encampment at Camp Ritchie, Md.

Hines is a graduate of the College Park Schools in the class of '00, and the Medical School in 1904. Also his son, Frank B. Jr., received his diploma in 1933, and at present Thomas B. Hines Jr., a nephew of Dr. Hines and the son of Thomas B. Hines, '05, is a student at the University.

* * * * *

William S. Hill, Jr., '27, is with the Federal Trade Commission, and located in the New York Office. He makes his home in the famous Greenwich Village. His degree in law was received from George Washington University in 1931.

Among New Students

Among the incoming freshmen there will be Loren R. Yourtee of Hagerstown, a grandson of one of Maryland's outstanding Alumni, the late Dr. John P. Yourtee, of Washington County, a graduate of the Medical School in the class of 1866.

Two other relatives also have received diplomas from the University, Dr. George W. Yourtee, who received his M.D. in 1903, and John Yourtee, a cousin, who graduated with honors in the College of Arts and Science in 1933.

Young Yourtee is the son of Mr. L B. Yourtee, a prominent lawyer of Hagerstown.

W. D. Groff, '00, former president of the "M" Club, and one of the most consistent attendants of Alumni gatherings, will enter his son, W.D. Groff, Jr., in the College Park Schools this year.

Young Groff's uncle, Guy B. Groff, is a graduate of the University Law School in 1903, and a prominent figure in the State of Washington, where he was State Senator for several years.

Father, son and uncle visited the Campus prior to the opening of school.

Herbert K. Ward, '28, received his Ph.D. degree from the Penn State College in February, 1934. Ward had been at Penn State for several years on fellowship, during which time he was part-time instructor in Chemistry. His achievements in chemistry gained for him membership in the honorary Chemical Fraternity, Sigma Pi Sigma.

He is now in the Research Department of the Kinderly Clark Corporation, located at Appleton, Wis.

Diamondback

This notice is to call the attention of Alumni to the annual solicitation of the Diamondback, the student paper for subscription. It affords an excellent opportunity to follow the current events of student activities and the up-to-date news on the athletic program.

The subscription rate is $2.00 per year, which will be taken care of by sending your remittance either to the Diamondback or Alumni Office, College Park, Maryland.

University Offers Winter Course

A Winter School course will be given at the University during the ensuing year under the auspices of the College of Agriculture and Home Economics. The course will open January 7, and will extend for six weeks.

The course has been designed to meet the needs of persons beyond the usual high school age who wish to continue their education and at the same time continue work at home with the least possible interruption. The time is short and comes at a season when farm work and rural business are least pressing.

The cost is small, and the course is intensive. For the sum of approximately $75.00 a comprehensive study in various phases of Agriculture, Home Economics, and rural social study can be secured. Those attending a definite planned program for four winters may procure a certificate of achievement.

A special effort will be made to acquaint students with the application of the more recent scientific findings and to assist them in making contact with leaders in work in which they are interested.

Anderson Made Board Chairman

James A. Anderson, '04, has been made Chairman of the mechanical division of the new National Railroad Adjustment Board. He was formerly shop superintendent of the Milwaukee Railroad Company, where he has been for the past 15 years.

Anderson graduated from the College Park Schools of the University in mechanical engineering, and immediately began his profession as railroad engineer, which he has followed ever since.

He is a product of the Eastern Shore and a member of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers. His present address is Milwaukee, Wis.

Kessler, '29, Becomes Lawyer

One of Maryland's outstanding students and athletes, Gordon Kessler, '29, has been made patent attorney for the Allied Chemical and Dye Corporation of New York. Gordon, the versatile quarter back of the gridiron, evidently knew what he wanted, for he took chemistry in college then studied law, and now both are combined in his latest affiliation. He can be located at 61 Broadway, New York City.

Gridiron Optimism Grows As Team Is Being Moulded

By W. H. ("Bill") HOTTEL

NO one at College Park is complaining over the football prospect. Practice sessions have served only to confirm the early belief that the outlook is the brightest since that great 1931 eleven.

The old liners may lack a Shorty Chalmers, or a Bozey Berger, or an Al Woods, or not have a lineman that measures up to some who played in that 1931 aggregation and on other teams, but the material, quantity and quality considered, is superior to any that has been at College Park recently. For the first time in many moons, if ever, Maryland really can boast of plenty of reserve strength.

Even a good little man has a tough time making a reserve role this year, as is illustrated by the fact that Bill Garrott and Luther Goldman, two small guards who won their letter as subs last fall, have been cavorting in the third string line. Bigger, and apparently, better boys are on hand. But, of course, the better angle has yet to be proved.

A glance at the box that appears on this page will serve to illustrate just how the situation sizes up and give a line on the physical qualifications of the players. Only one fly in the ointment may be noted. This is that only six of the 29 players mentioned really are veterans, eleven being juniors and the other dozen sophomores. Lack of experience may hurt somewhat at the outset, but under any circumstances Maryland should have a fine November eleven.

The 14 linemen named in the first two sets of forwards average 186½ pounds to the man, and the 12 backs average 171, with none scaling over 184. This is good weight, in fact, almost ideal average poundage.

Jack Faber and Roy Mackert are pleased with the boys and the players are pleased with their mentors. They also are happy that Vice-President H. C. Byrd is able to get around quite frequently, showing that Faber and Mackert will not lack the needed advice of the sage of the University.

Maryland figured to use the game with St. John's on September 29, as a testing spot and will run into about as tough an assignment as it will face all year in meeting Washington and Lee on October 6. If that hurdle can be leaped, the Old Liners should be tuned up to be tough pickings to the finish.

Alumni should take note of the contents of the box giving the schedule and list of prices. Of course, it is hoped to make Homecoming Day a big affair with all the trimmings, but the game with Florida, in Baltimore, is a big objective and all are asked to put a hand to the wheel.

And if you want to see the Navy or Georgetown game you had better act early. Sellouts are promised for both battles.

How Old Line Grid Team Sizes Up

HERE is how the two sets of old line forwards have been lining up in practice sessions at College Park with the outlook that definite selections for the various positions will not be made until after two or three games have been played:

FIRST LINE			Years on	SECOND LINE			Years on
Name	Pos.	Wt.	Squad	Name	Pos.	Wt.	Squad
*Ed Minion	l.t.	194	2	John Birkland	l.t.	185	1
*Brooks Bradly	l.g.	197	2	*Al Farrell	l.g.	202	2
*Bill Anderka	c.	170	1	Harry Gretz	c.	156	2
*John Simpson	r.g.	180	3	Charlie Zulick	r.g.	197	1
*Bernie Buscher	r.e.	173	2	Vic Willis	r.e.	186	1

*Letter men.

Luther Goldman (165) and Bill Garrott (175), guards, who won their letter last year and Bill Edwards 218-pound soph guard, are the other forwards likely to break into the line-up.

Maryland's dozen backs—all capable—are as follows:

Name	Wt.	Years on Squad	Name	Wt.	Years on Squad
*Earl Widmyer	165	3	John Gormley	184	1
*Norwood Sothoron	158	3	Edmond Daly	183	1
*Dick Nelson	170	3	Bill Guckeyson	175	1
*Joe Crecca	160	3	Coleman Headley	168	1
*George Sachs	183	2	Charlie Ellinger	168	1
*Charlie Yaeger	183	2	Jack Stonebraker	150	1

*Letter men.

Widmyer, Nelson, Yaeger and Guckeyson are the kickers; the first two named, and Crecca, Sachs and Stonebraker are the passers, and Gormley, Daly and Yaeger are the blocking backs.

Levin Houston, '98, Has Interesting Career

From baseball manager, through engineering fields, to city manager of Fredericksburg, Va., is the life of Levin J. Houston, '98. Houston came to College Park Schools, then Maryland Agriculture College, in 1894, and took a classical course to please his parents, but his inclination was engineering. In his senior year, he managed the first baseball team to take an extended trip through the state of Virginia, and also the first baseball team to win the Intercollegiate Championship of Maryland and District of Columbia. Following his graduation from M. A. C., he was eager to take engineering, so to Cornell he went, where he finished in 1901, receiving a degree in civil engineering.

Becomes City Manager

Houston's next affiliation was with the Canadian Pacific R. R., where he remained but a few years, changing to the Chesapeake and Ohio. Finding out that railroad engineering was not his calling, he turned to municipal engineering and went to Baltimore City, where he was with the city department for several years. Later he entered private business. He was soon called from his private endeavors to the city of Fredericksburg, Va., to act as city manager, where he has been for over 16 years. His accomplishments have been noteworthy and many cities have sought his council.

When manager of the baseball team at college, Houston recalled a very interesting incident, when on the team's southern trip which had a record of 3 wins and 3 loses. The most outstanding win was from V. M. I. Here Houston and the Maryland boys were received so cordially and courteously by the cadets and institutional authorities that he has always had the highest esteem for V. M. I. He met General Ship, then commander of the institution, who was the leader of the V. M. I. cadets in the battle of New Market during the war between the states. The cadet manager of baseball at that time, with whom he became well acquainted, was later General Marshal of the World War.

Houston is one of Maryland's outstanding alumni who is keenly interested in his work, but he enjoys reminiscing about yonder years.

OLD LINE ATHLETIC ACTIVITIES

By W. H. ("Bill") HOTTEL

Terps Yield Only 4 First Downs In Winning, Losing

PLAYING its third game of the season October 13 at Annapolis, Maryland outgained Navy 349 yards to 180, but lost 13 to 6, when tumbling allowed the Middies to take a 16 to 0 lead in the first half. It was all Maryland in the second half. Each scored two touchdowns, a field goal by Cutter being the Navy margin.

MARYLAND'S Old Liners allowed only four first downs to be made against them in their first two games in defeating St. John's of Annapolis, 13 to 0, at College Park on September 29, and losing to Washington and Lee at Lexington, 0 to 7, on October 6.

The Terps did well enough against St. John's the losers getting both of their first downs in their own territory late in the fourth quarter.

They made nine first downs to Washington and Lee's two, outrushing and outpassing the Generals, but losing out when a poor kick gave the Lexingtonians a scoring break in the second period. The Generals then got their only two first downs to register the lone touchdown.

A muddy field handicapped the lighter Terps. However, the Old Liners were inside the 15 yard line four times in the last half but just couldn't quite make it.

Maryland typified its main strength in the Washington and Lee game by using the following players:

Only McCaw, Simpson, Sothoron, Widmyer and Nelson are seniors and Ellinger, Willis, Zulic, Birkland, Andorka, Stonebraker, Guckeyson, Headley, Gormley and Daly are playing their first year of varsity football. All of the others are juniors.

VIRGINIA'S CAPTAIN

Alumni Will Find Florida, Virginia Tilts Attractive

TWO Old Line football games, to which alumni from all over the State and from other points are expected to flock, are the big intersectional contest with Florida in the Baltimore Stadium on October 27, at 2:30, and the Homecoming tilt with Virginia at College Park, on November 3, starting at the same hour.

Both should be highly attractive and colorful contests and the Terps should be pretty nearly on a 50-50 basis with Florida, and fully an even choice with the Cavaliers. By the time the 'Gators and Virginia are met, the Terps should be travelling along at a fast pace, as all the experts hereabout have forecast that "Maryland will have a November team."

Maryland and Virginia have been battling quite a spell, the first real tilt between them being in 1919, when the Terps won as Maryland State, 13 to 0. They have been opposing as Southern Conference rivals since 1925, with Virginia winning four times, Maryland three, with two ties.

They are all even for the Millard Tydings' trophy, put into competition in 1926, with three wins apiece and two deadlocks.

Florida and the Old Liners have met but twice. The Terps invaded Jacksonville in December, 1927, and, although outplaying the 'Gators by a goodly margin, lost, 6 to 7. Last December Florida had the edge in a hotly contested game at Tampa, 19 to 0.

Both games will be worth lenghty trips to witness and the alumni at various points are lining up to be on hand. Be among them.

C., the alumni bowling team, the original organizers of the Old Line Club, invite the alumni to attend their games at the Rendezvou Alleys every Thursday evening, beginning at 8 p. m. Make this a place to meet, where you more than likely will find somebody that you know. Come anyway, and make yourself known and let's get the old Maryland spirit rejuvenated.

Alumni To Be Organized Throughout The State

A concentrated effort is now being made by the Alumni Office to have the alumni throughout the State organized by counties and cities. Every Alumnus is asked to give his cooperation in getting these organizations started. It is felt that if there is one particular place designated in the principal town of each county where Maryland alumni will eat lunch on a certain day, that eventually a personal contact with every alumnus in that county or city will be perfected. This is conceded the best way to get interest and loyalty of the highest degree among the alumni.

For the present, the day for these gatherings has been set for noon, on the first Friday in each month. A committee in your locality will drop you a card designating the place, and it is hoped that as many as possible will attend these gatherings. There will not be a set charge for the lunch, as arrangements will be such that you can order to suit yourself. Come to these gatherings and get acquainted with your fellow-alumni whom you do not know, and get better acquainted with those you do know.

Freshman Squad Is Green

Twenty-four freshman footballers, called Al Heagy's hopefuls, are toiling under the direction of the former Terp star, but they're not likely to set the world afire this year. There are a few promising boys in the lot but enough is said of the entire quota when it is stated that the 24 have had only a toal of 34 years experience as high school gridders. Eleven are playing football for the first time.
